

UGLY CRISIS REACHED

Between Great Britain and the United States

OVER SHADING REGULATIONS

England's Attitude Viewed With Much Dissatisfaction at the State Department.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—An ugly crisis has been reached in the negotiations between the United States and Great Britain looking to the adoption of uniform relations for the government of the seal fisheries this season. The British government positively refused to renew the regulations of last year which prohibited the carrying of firearms by sealing vessels through the sea north of the twenty-fifth parallel during the closed season. The United States officials look upon this as disastrous to the seal fisheries, holding that the result will be to relieve the pelagic sealers of the only restriction which has operated to prevent an unadvised slaughter of the herds. While killing by firearms remains illegal, it is realized it will be impossible to enforce this prohibition unless sealers can freely carry arms. The sealers would all be under the very eyes of a revenue cutter.

Meanwhile the United States cutters have gone out under the old regulations to seize all vessels carrying arms on seal. These must be modified speedily by orders sent through the Alaska company's steamer, which leaves San Francisco in a day or two, or else there may be another big claim for damages on account of illegal seizures filed by the British government. The attitude of the latter is viewed with much dissatisfaction at the state department, which is regarded as an evidence of the unworkable condition to the Canadian pelagic sealers. It is also held that the effect of the British action is to practically nullify all measures of protection of the seals that was conceived by the Paris arbitration, and it would not be surprising if this course is persisted in if it resulted in a declaration by the United States of the abrogation of the treaty.

MEADE'S RETIREMENT.

The Admiral's Cause Championed by Sabin of Minnesota.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Ex-Senator Dwight M. Sabin of Minnesota left early this morning for Boston. Mr. Sabin is practically out of politics, but nevertheless he takes a keen interest in the affairs of the day. Speaking of the case of Admiral Meade, who is about to be retired for reasons of retreating from the navy, Mr. Sabin said:

"There was a ring of patriotism and an air of independence in Admiral Meade's utterances that found an echo in every loyal man's mind. It may be that he was a lack of discipline, but he had grave cause, and I think Meade was right. I see that President Cleveland and Secretary Herbert talk of court-martialing Admiral Meade. I do not think they dare take that step. Let them go ahead and they will see how much this country honors such a man. Let Admiral Meade stand by his words. There will be another administration in a short time and we want a man with such sentiments at the head of the navy department. He may be secretary of the navy yet."

A BOILER EXPLOSION

Eight Men Horribly Mangled and Disfigured.

HEADS CRUSHED TO A JELLY

From Limb and Only Recognizable by Their Clothing.

WEST BIRMINGHAM, Pa., May 14.—This afternoon the bodies of eight men, horribly mangled, seared and disfigured, were picked out of the ruins of Peck, Haskell & Cobb's saw mill here, victims of the explosion of the boiler in the mill. Five were dead, and two of the three others have since died.

The mill was run by steam, generated in an old eighty-horse power boiler, which, it is reported, had been condemned by an inspector a few days before. Thirteen men were employed in the mill. This morning they were at work, when a belt broke, shutting down operations. While it was being repaired, nobody paid any attention to the boiler, which was making steam, for a hot fire had been kindled under it.

Suddenly there was a terrific explosion, followed by a cloud of steam, dust and smoke, which rose high in the air. Four of the victims were torn limb from limb, and their remains scattered about the mill and the immediate vicinity. Parts of the boiler were blown hundreds of feet, and the mill was horribly demolished, leaving their heads crushed to a jelly, and being recognizable only by their clothing. The dead were all married, and had families.

CORBETT'S TURN.

THE CHAMPION LINES UP THE LONDON CLUB.

He is Willing to Sacrifice Himself at the Hands of the Australian.

CHICAGO, May 15.—"If the National Sporting Club of London will give a purse of any amount from a farthing to 5000 pounds, I will box Peter Jackson for it in the arena," hotly declared Champion Corbett tonight. "The London Club is made up of a lot of first-class snobs, whose only claim to recognition is the possession of a lot of titles, many of which no self-respecting man would care to carry. I have been there and know what I am talking about. They are the blindest ex-cuses for men and sportsmen that ever disgraced a country."

Corbett was very angry through and through and while discussing the latest phase in the pugilistic situation, Jackson's remarks and the refusal of the National Sporting Club to give a purse for him and Corbett, was quite petty. He refused to give any attention to the club's demand for an apology, he remarked:

"What! Apologize! Apologize to that crowd? I demand. Never. I refuse to give any attention to what I do them. It is the most ridiculous thing I ever heard of. They, the titled swells of English aristocracy, can never make me believe they are half so honest and manly in their intentions as I am. I refuse to give any attention to them unless they promise to bring about a meeting between Jackson and myself. I had not the slightest idea the snobs over there would refuse me a purse. I do not speak boastfully when I say that I am the greatest boxer in the world, and I do not suppose the National chappies would turn me down here, according to them. I owe their organization an apology. He members profess to the latter's view when asked if he would pay any attention to the club's demand for an apology, he remarked:

Soldiers Store His Watermelons.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—Colonel Park Henshaw of Ohio was admonished to appear before a justice at an early day as defendant in an action for the recovery of the value of a load of watermelons. A CLOUDBURST.

GREAT DAMAGE TO PROPERTY

BUT NO LIVES LOST.

A Raging River Five Feet in Depth

Rushed Through the Streets of Hermansville, Miss.

HERMANSVILLE, Miss., May 10.—A

cloudburst at this place yesterday did

great damage to property, but no lives were lost. The downpour of rain was terrible, and the flood overflowed all the streets in the neighborhood. The town and the surrounding country were swept of buildings, fences, outhouses, etc., were swept from their foundations, and though the main streets of the town rushed a raging river five feet in depth. It overflowed

many houses, sweeping over the ground floor, and the stock which could not be gotten up in time had to swim in places

of safety. Men had to give up the task of rescuing the stock and save their heads. The people sought safety in second stories, and so far as can be learned no lives were lost. The rains

are all down.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—The track

was fast and the racing close today.

The talent suffered, for only the first two races were for favorites. In the last race, however, heavily backed at 50 to 1,

Road Record Broken.

FRESNO, May 10.—T. C. Wahl of

Colorado Springs, a member of the Century

Road Club, broke the world's fifty-mile record today, riding from a point forty miles north of Colorado Springs to this city in two hours and fifteen minutes.

The wind favored him. He was obliged to ford Purgatoire river, a stream over 100 feet wide. The first four miles were ridden in eight minutes. No pace-maker accompanied the rider. The previous

American record for fifty miles is held by Kemble P. G. R. Evans, who made it in 2:30.40. The previous world's record

is held by Linton of Hearn Hill, England,

and is 2:29 and 27 1/2 minutes.
